

Abstract

Research Title : The Model of plan for community self-reliance Accordance With sufficiency economy In Samut Songkhram Province

Author : Mr.Poramet saeng-on

Year : 2011

This research aims to study a plan for community self-reliance enough along in the province of Samut Songkhram. The objective to communities that have been made to develop community self-reliance activities to performance to analyze and synthesize the factors that influences the success of the community and find ways to improve the process of developing self-reliance plan to practice and adoption benefits under the sufficiency economy.

Instruments used in research is divided into two steps, i.e. step 1, the questionnaire included factors affecting success and what is expected of the community what is expected of the community to develop their own community, step 2, and the small group meetings and the factors that influence the success of the community.

The results show that the factors that influence success. It was found that:

- 1) Must not be selfish and partisan community leaders. Humility, respect for each other.
- 2) Community, there is love there is harmony in the community plan.
- 3) The government must promote the sustainable community plan.
- 4) Travel and transportation is not convenient to the lack of electric lighting in the streets.
- 5) Lack of funding for investment in the community. Each family in the community, there is no extra income to the family in debt off the system drug addiction among young people from the community youth in the community, some travel to work area.
- 6) In the absence of water for farming water in the water is clean and in good.
- 7) Community has a lot of junk in the air caused by pollution.
- 8) In an industrial area in the region. Foreign workers aliens living in the community along a local youth unemployment problem.

9) When an establishment or factory to the community or nearby areas. People in the community will aim to work in industry and agriculture will not work because their income uncertainty.

What is expected of the community to develop their own communities it was found that:

1) The development of people young people's heritage and cultural traditions. Folk wisdom Local wisdom and knowledge of the community to provide identification to a lifestyle based on the philosophy of sufficiency economy.

2) The development of the area development environment to live the sporting community health and community infrastructure to help maintain security in their communities.

3) Economic development and revenue the unique potential of their community's community occupation and income the establishment of the agricultural community. Savings cooperatives have been established in the community. The bio-organic fertilizer used within the community.

4) Development community. There is harmony in the community will help develop a plan for community development. You can rely on their own well-being.

Step 2 meeting, the group found that lead to self-treatment plan its use by the philosophy of sufficiency economy to the sustainable quality of life.

1) The development of people has promoted the development of community leader's people in the community to participate in the meeting.

2) The development of the area people in the community and promote eco-tourism development projects and encourage the community to maintain the integrity of nature.

3) Economic development and revenue community leaders are meeting in the village community. The group has been established village savings groups should yield a unique value-added processing of the community.

4) Development plan, community plan priorities in budgetary allocations to ensure strong and sustainable community development with a public hearing to the meeting again to ensure community together.

Factors contributing to success community planning and Development found that overall; the country comprises 27 provinces with 102 samples of the factors that influence success the development community.

Factors that affect success it was found that:

- 1) In the community to cooperate unity in the community to attend a community development plan the community leaders must not be selfish and partisan interests.
- 2) Communities leaders need to let the developers are always learning a model of living, economic sufficiency.
- 3) The search for wisdom from the past - today and experience development of local identity, the identity of the community.
- 4) Promote vocational training for people in the community to continue to develop their knowledge of the community in order to supplement family income.

The community development approach it was found that:

- 1) The development of people. Encourage the community to turn their attention to their own communities. Local people should be aware of the virtues of sacrifice that benefit private should be provided to promote cooperation to achieve harmony in the community. And to find a leader who has humility, mutual respect and sacrifice. As a developer, always pursue knowledge can link with other agencies and role models in life enough.
- 2) The development of the area potential duration of the plan that best suits the community and not limited to the issues facing only. The priorities for the future of the village together, like the development of any such use of the community in terms of environmental resources conservation of forest and water resources for agriculture to complement the most valuable.
- 3) Economic development and revenue community should develop a career and income supplement for strong and sustainable community development. Search by meeting and sharing experiences from the past to the present study of history. Indigenous way of life, culture, environment and development of local products the avenues of marketing identity or identities of each side by removing the knowledge of local community leaders, scholar's research participation the public sector to support the professional learning community.
- 4) Development community the international community should give community leaders are meeting in each month to plan development. The collection, analysis and prioritization synthesize information to solve the problem of the community. Separate plan for self-reliance collaborative plan. Support plan accordance with criteria and indicators quality assessment and accreditation community. Analysis of events associated with the concept of sufficiency economy philosophy in life. The same direction with the development of other agencies relevant to the community can adapt to all situations which can lead to community self-reliance and sustainability, as well as community leaders and the community must be prepared education community members leadership and the community with integrity and good conscience community leaders should create a good community.